THE CIRCUIT COURT.

Probable That Another Week Will Clean up the Jury Cases.

A number of cases have been disposed of at the session of the circuit court which is now in progress at the court house.

The only case on the criminal calendar in which the defendant was found guilty was that of the state against Peter Knipschild, who was charged with abandonment. The defendant is from Marshfield and sentence has not been passed on him as yet.

In the issues of fact for the jury the first case on the calendar is that of Charles Lutz and Fredricka Lutz vs. Henry Linster and William Welter. This was stricken from the calendar on account of not being properly noticed.

In the case of Fred Redepening vs. the Town of Rock, the case is now being tried, and will probably take up the greater part of the week.

The case of Henry Horn vs. Frank Judack has been continued. This is an action over a promissory note, and the defendant in the case is dead.

In the case of Adelle White vs. the City of Grand Rapids and E. J. Wood, a settlement was effected before it came to trial. This was a suit for personal damages which the plaintiff sustained on the sidewalk on the east side of the Wood block. A new walk was being constructed there and an opening was left where the basement window exists and there was no railing about the place and Mrs. White stepped into the hole, sustaining severe injuries, from which she was laid up for some time. She settled for $750, the city paying $300 and E. J. Wood $450.

In the case of Stella M. Furrer vs. the Electric and Water Co., a settlement was also effected, and complainant accepting $350. This case grew out of damages that the little girl sustained thru catching hold of a live wire which had been allowed to fall onto the ground from the company's poles.

Joseph Beringer vs. Nicholas Winkler was a case in which the plaintiff sued the defendant for $1000 damages, claiming that this amount was due her for services. The case was dismissed.

W. A. Lee vs. W. A. Peterson was a case on a judgment note. The defendant had bought a patent right. The case was settled.

The case of Vinney Akey vs. Peter Akey resulted in a verdict for the defendant. In this the plaintiff claimed a certain amount of money for having nursed and taken care of the defendant's mother.

In the case of August Schiller vs. Fred Llopka the jury brought in a verdict for the plaintiff and awarded him $15 damages and costs. This was a suit over a cow, the cow of the defendant having gored an animal belonging to him. The defendant in this action died before the case had been settled, being a resident in the neighborhood of Pittsville.

There are a number of of drainage cases on the calendar in which the jury has been waived, so that it is not expected that there will be a great deal for them to do after the present case is finished.

Beat the Record.
Wausau Record.—A Marathon county cow has beaten the world's record as a butter maker. Ykes Sunbeam, the prize American born and bred Guernsey cow belonging to the Helendale herd of Fred Reithel at Athens, has finished her test of one year and has given in that time 82,455 pounds more of butter fats than has ever been given before.

In the year of the test just ended Ykes Sunbeam gave the phenomenal quantity of 827,145 pounds of butter fat that has stood the required tests. Her closest rival is an imported cow, Princess Biana, who gave 775.69 pounds. Other high records that have been made are: Pretoria, four and a half years old, 595.35; Portia of Maplehurst, four years old, 602.37 and Sister Sue of Mossegell, two and a half years old, 628.94.

Ykes Sunbeam is a pure bred Guernsey of American birth. She is a distinctly northern cow, having been calved in Minnesota and for several years having been owned and fed on the Helendale farm near Athens. She entered the test because her owners believed that not only was she a good cow but because they believed that the grass and cattle foods of this country were the best of the world produced. That belief has been fully sustained, in fact was sustained when at the end of eleven months she had beaten the test for twelve months.

This broken record means a great deal for Marathon county. It means that there is no finer country on earth for cattle breeding and dairying than Marathon and that it has a future second to none as a farming country.

Coming Football Game.
On Sunday, October 15th, there will be a football game at the fair grounds between the city team of this city and the team from Wausau. The boys were beaten at Wausau last Sunday by a small margin, but they claim that they have strengthened the team considerably and that next Sunday they will be able to give the Wausau team all they are looking for. An admission fee of 25 cents will be charged for adults and 10 cents for ladies and children.

Will not Number Mail Boxes.
According to newspaper reports, the rural mail boxes will not be numbered, as was the intention. It seems that some bright minded genius conceived the idea that it would be a good thing to have the rural mail boxes numbered, like the boxes in a post office, so that the farmer could get his mail without anybody knowing who it was going to. No sooner had the order gone out to number the boxes than the mails were flooded with catalogues and circulars addressed by number instead of name, the same coming from the city mail order houses. There was a protest from the country merchants and the order to number the boxes was rescinded. It is also stated that the postoffice department has gone further and ordered that all lists of patrons on the rural routes shall be taken down, so that they cannot be obtained so easily by those who are looking for this sort of thing.

It is even said that the original idea of numbering the mail boxes was hatched by the mail order houses. It is certain that it never originated with the farmers, for we never heard of one who was ashamed to get his mail in his own name.

Jewish Colony Doing Well.
The Evening Wisconsin of Sunday last contained a lengthy writeup of the Jewish colony at Arpin, which was established less than a year ago, and according to the story told in that paper, the colony is doing well.

The plan pursued in establishing this colony and the methods employed in keeping it going have been given in the Tribune heretofore, and many people have followed the progress of the colony with considerable interest. Also, there are many Jews engaged in agriculture, it is not a vacation thing, and as a consequence their progress has attracted more than ordinary interest. The Arpin colony seems to be thriving in good shape and there is every evidence that the members will one day be listed among the thriving farmers of the country.

There is no question but what the Jew, if he puts as much energy in farming as he does usually in the mercantile business, will make a marked success of the vocation.

Card of Thanks.
I wish to publicly thank those people, neighbors and friends, and the members of the Rebecca Lodge who were so kind and extended such needed help after the death of my wife. I also wish to thank the many friends who gave the floral gifts.

William Raath.

Neither Side Scored.
The high school football team went to Stevens Point on Saturday and played a game with the normal team of that city, and the game ended with neither side scoring a point.

Those who saw the game say that the Stevens Point team was much heavier than the local team, and should have won with ease, but they were as good as the Grand Rapids men.

The locals feel that they have some good material for a team this year and that with a proper amount of practice they will be able to play winning ball. They are especially jubilant in having held down the normal team, as they were sure that this would probably be the heaviest team they would play against this fall.

In speaking of the game the Stevens Point Journal says:

The Stevens Point Normal football team failed to score against the High school boys from Grand Rapids this afternoon, in the first game of the season at Athletic park.

Normal was slow in getting away with the ball and their defense was poor. Roberts got away from the line several times, and made some good gains, but he ran high and was easily downed. Hill played a good quarter for the Normal, stopping the only chance the visitors had to score by downing his man when he was well away.

Things Theatrical.
—Manager Hamilton of the Opera House announces that as a special attraction for the week of Oct. 16, he has secured The Flora DeVoss Co., who will open a weeks engagement. During the week this popular company will present a series of six performances, including one Matinee.

The Flora DeVoss Co. ranks among the highest of all repertory companies; and Manager Hamilton feels gratified that he can offer such an attraction to his patrons for the coming week.

During the engagement complete scenic productions of the latest plays will be presented, including high class vaudeville features between acts.

Manager Hamilton looks forward to the most successful week of the season. The company begins their engagement at the Opera House Monday night opening in the great play "Virginia." Prices 10, 20, and 30 cents. Ladies free the opening night. Seats on sale at usual places, Saturday morning.

WERE A BAD GANG.

Burns who Pass Thru This City Prove to be a Band of Bank Robbers.

There was quite a time at Wautoma on Saturday, a gang of toughs having robbed the postoffice there and taken some $400 in money and stamps and later tackled the bank, being scared away before they could get at the money in the latter institution.

They were chased by a posse under the leadership of the deputy sheriff and later surrounded in a marsh where one of the robbers was killed and two others wounded, and the fourth man given up to the law.

A gang of men supposed to be the same outfit passed thru this city on Friday. One of them went to the hardware department of Johnson & Hill's store and said he wanted to buy a good strong putty knife, and after his wants had been supplied he was directed to another department, and Mr. McCamley thought they were rather suspicious looking customers.

Later they boarded a freight train and left town, and got off further down the line, and it is supposed that this was the same gang that did the robbing at Wautoma.

The attempt to rob the state bank at Wautoma failed for the reason that a number of people had been aroused by the explosion in the postoffice, and they scared the robbers away before they secured any money from the bank. The four men were subsequently noticed in the woods by farmers who were coming to town and the authorities were notified. The deputy sheriff trailed the men to a swamp near Wild Rose, where he secured a posse of citizens and the robbers were surrounded. As the men fled to the reports there was quite a fight, but the citizens were armed with rifles while the outlaws were only revolvers, and the citizens won in the great majority, and after the firing had continued for some time one of the robbers stepped out from the brush and surrendered, stating that one of his companions was dead and the other two wounded, and that it was useless for them to attempt to keep up the fight longer.

Pinkerton detectives later appeared on the scene and identified one of the wounded men as a bank robber who had been wanted for the past ten years. It is not known who the dead man is, as his companions refuse to divulge his name. He was buried on Monday at Wild Rose.

Four other men who were supposed to be connected with the gang were also arrested in the vicinity of Wausau, but so far nothing has been proven against them.

Hunter Accidentally Shot.
Will Shannon, a resident of the town of Merrill in Portage county, was accidentally shot on Sunday while out duck hunting with a companion on Rice Lake, west of Dancy.

The two men were in a boat, and Shannon's companion saw a duck. He picked up his gun from where it lay across the boat, and as he swung it around one barrel was discharged and struck Shannon in the top of the head. The wound was so high up that the charge partly glanced off, but the skull was fractured and a part of the brain protruded. The shot rendered Shannon insensible and he fell into the water and sank to the bottom. His companion got out of the boat and raised him into the water, but could not get him into the boat again but managed to wade ashore with him, notwithstanding the fact that the water was up to his neck. Help was then summoned and the young man conveyed to his home. Here he was given medical attention, and it is barely possible that he may recover, altho nothing definite can be told about the matter at the present time.

Best in the World.
Cream, Ark., Oct. 20th. (Special.)—

After eighteen months suffering from Epilepsy, Backache and Kidney Complaint, Mr. W. H. Smith of this place is a well man again and those who have watched his return to health will hesitatingly give all the credit to Dodd's Kidney Pills. In an interview regarding his cure, Mr. Smith says:

"I had been low for eighteen months with my back and kidneys and also Epilepsy. I had taken everything I knew of and nothing seemed to do me any good till a friend of mine got me to send for Dodd's Kidney Pills. I find that they are the greatest medicine in the world, for now I am able work and am in just an about as strong as before I took sick."

Dodd's Kidney Pills cure the kidneys. Cured kidneys cleanse the blood of all impurities. Pure blood means good health.

Art Treasures for St. Louis.

The late Charles Parsons, a banker of St. Louis, who died in Michigan a few weeks ago at the age of 81, bequeathed to his native city his magnificent art collection, valued at $250,000, which goes in its entirety, to the museum of fine arts. In it are a number of notable paintings, some of which were exhib-

Praised at the world's fair, besides numerous lesser works, pieces of sculpture and articles of vertu which adorned his home.

Santo Domingo, declare that he is unlike the ordinary promise-monger, Spanish-American. Dependence may be placed on his word and he is heartily trying to set his country upon its feet. He will not allow his followers to pay off old grudges and he attempts to be the tool of politicians.

CHAPTER VII.
The Silk Robbery.

"Show me, please," said the bank agent, "the money that was stolen from the bank on the night of the robbery." "What can I do for you?" asked the banker.

"I had lost track of Mr. Smith," replied the detective. "You are looking for Mr. Smith, then?"

"I am keeping the young man in view," replied the detective. "I am sure that Mr. Smith was in the bank on the night of the robbery, and it is my business to keep him under my protection," was the brief reply.

"I am aware of the fact that Mr. Smith was in the bank on the night of the robbery," replied the detective. "I am sure that Mr. Smith was in the bank on the night of the robbery, and it is my business to keep him under my protection," was the brief reply.

"What guarantee have I, if I place myself in your power, that you will not expose me?"

"Oh, you will be left free, with your spotless reputation unscathed by the stain of crime, if you do your part, which is to save the life of the wounded man. Besides, you will be rewarded with money."

It was not a hard matter to persuade Dr. Schiller to agree to do the work. Deciding himself helpless, he put as gracious a face on the matter as possible. "I accept," he said.

"I thought you would, my dear doctor, when you came to your senses," said Pearson. According to his instructions, the doctor dressed for his journey, taking his instrument case, he was assisted to a seat in a farmer's wagon already occupied by a driver and a man by the name of Kyme.

The doctor was using his eyes, as he thought, to good advantage. But Pearson and Kyme were too old birds to be caught in such a trap. Before the team had started, the doctor was seized by the throat and held by the neck.

"What the devil is this?" cried the doctor. "I will give you your money, and you will let me go."

"It will be as well," replied Pearson, "if you will let me see your neck."

"We will have to wait a moment," said the doctor. "You are not afraid that I will give away your secrets, are you?"

MOUNTAIN LION AND ELK.

Due to the Death, the Huge Cat Proving the Victor.

The lion quickly moved to the side of the fleeing quarry, and taking him on the shoulder and breast with his forepaws, embedded his terrible teeth in the throat of the elk. The elk gave a stifled cry of terror, the enemy advanced, they were now coming unaccountably close. The elk had swayed in his course, and staggered from the path. With one mighty effort he tried to dislodge the lion by swinging his head up and down and his feet were sealed.

As well might a rabbit expect to escape the eagle when once in his talons as this mountain elk to defeat his terrible foe.

The great beast staggered internally and fell, his shoulders heaving down and his head sinking back. The lion, pushing it from under the elk, which lay on its back, and reigned its feet.

Once more the lion succeeded in fastening its teeth in the flesh of the elk, this time on the top of the neck, and the elk made a last feeble lurch forward and fell within ten feet of him.

The elk seemed to fall forward more than upon the lion, and from the lion's mouth the elk's head fell. The lion's head fell, and the elk's head fell, and the lion's head fell, and the elk's head fell.

MEN OF PROMINENCE IN THE INSURANCE INQUIRY CASE

These relations were confidential, says the insurance inquiry case.

"There is nothing confidential about the insurance business now," the inquiry reported.

And the witness answered. Who the particular witness was and why the question that drew out this colloquy doesn't matter greatly for the purposes of the illustration.

The important thing is that the refusal to answer, testified to a conservative old lawyer, and the reply of the committee, Charles E. Hughes, of the New York City Bar.

President Roosevelt has held a conference with some of the athletic managers of the colleges with a view to eliminating the brutality from football games. We can see no reason why it should not be done. With the aid of the long distance telephone and the typewriter the game of pugilism has been shown of the greater part of its horrors, and the same thing might as well happen with football. Of course the average prizefighter was never as tough and brutal as football, as when a man was down for ten seconds in a pugilistic contest the show was over, but in a football game when one of the combatants is knocked out they take a few minutes off and try to revive him and if this cannot be done, a substitute is put in and the game goes on. So it can be seen that a football game is far more brutal than a prize fight, and that the number of men available for the president is a resourceful man, and there is no doubt that he will not be the average person that if the brutality was removed from football, that a large number of the people who are now crazy about the game would not walk across the street to see it? There is little question but that this is so, and that while football lovers may not realize the fact, it remains just the same. They may hold up their hands in holy horror at a prize fight, but when their side is getting the worst of it at a football game they would willingly see their friends annihilate their opponents in any manner possible, and cheer them while doing it.

Dangerous Corn Shredders.

The danger of serious accidents from corn shredders and shredders and the importance of the law passed by the last legislature requiring that all shredders be equipped with a safety device, are strikingly shown by the statistics just compiled by Professor George S. Knapp of the Department of Farm Engineering of the University of Wisconsin. While it is a matter of common knowledge to every one who is familiar with farm machinery that the liability of accidents has been greater to men operating corn shredders than those in the charge of any other kind of farm machinery, hitherto no statistics have been collected to show the comparative danger. In response to a circular letter sent to one thousand physicians in the 48 counties of Wisconsin in which corn is grown, 378 replies were received by Professor Knapp. The reports show 71 accidents by shredders in 1903 and 41 accidents by shredders in former years, against 232 accidents by all other kinds of farm machinery in 1904, and 967 in former years.

Many Serious Complaints.

The statistics compiled from the reports of the physicians show that last year 16 persons lost arms in corn shredders, while ten persons lost hands in shredders, only 9 suffered similar loss by other machines. Two deaths resulted from shredder accidents and two from all other machinery. It is thus apparent that the shredder accidents are in the majority serious, since 2.8 per cent were fatal; 50 per cent resulted in loss of arms or hands and 28 per cent in loss of fingers.

Victor Care Necessary.

An under the term "all other kinds of farm machinery" as far as the included, grain threshers, traction engines, gasoline engines, wood saws, hay presses, grain and corn harvesters, corn shellers, feed mills, wind mills, mowers and hay tedders, plows, harrows, and rollers. It is apparent that the shredder is responsible for injuries out of all proportion to the number of machines in use. The unavoidable inference from this is that shredders are more dangerous than other machines and that ordinary care in operating shredders is not adequate to prevent injury.

New Shredders Must be Protected.

The State Legislature passed a law at the last session which provided that all shredders shall be equipped with a safety device to prevent accident in the snapping rolls. In the machines put on the market this year the manufacturers are apparently making an honest attempt to comply with this law, but the machines in the field which occasioned 71 accidents in 1904 are no doubt still in use and are as likely to catch victims this year as last. Since shredders and harvesters will continue to be used, the only safe guard is to keep away from both the hustling and snapping rolls, and if the rolls need attention to use a stick or club and not the hands or fingers in attempting to remedy the difficulty.

The state of Missouri has served notice on the New York Life Insurance company that unless the president and several other high officers of the company resign and that the money donated to campaign funds be returned to the treasury of the company, it cannot do any more business in the state. This is the way to go after this class of highway robbers, and if every state in the union would do the same thing there would soon be a change in the manner in which this kind of business is transacted.

Bishop Schwabach Here.

The Right Reverend Bishop Schwabach of LaCrosse was in this city over Sunday and held services in the two Catholic churches here. A large crowd assembled at the depot to meet the reverend gentleman, and at the services that were subsequently held at the churches, there was not room enough to accommodate the faithful ones.

Bishop Schwabach has never before visited the east side church in his official capacity, as it was only last July that this section has been put under his supervision. Hitherto his territory has extended to the Wisconsin River, so that the east side was in one diocese and the west side in another.

Services were held in St. Peter and Paul church in the morning and at St. Lawrence church on the west side in the afternoon. The bishop was also tendered a reception at the parson's hall in the morning, at which there were about two hundred in attendance.

There was a confirmation class at the east side church, consisting of about eighty members, during the morning, and taken altogether the bishop had quite a busy day while here.

Had a Large Attendance.

The concert given by the Eckert family at the opera house last Thursday evening was largely attended, the seating capacity of the place being nearly filled. The two children of the family showed themselves to be very good musicians and rendered some very nice selections. A large number of people stayed and enjoyed the dance that was given after the concert.

Had a Chicken Chowder.

There was quite a time at Moss Shackley's place in the town of Rudolph on Sunday, in the shape of a chicken chowder. There were some fifty people in attendance, among them from this city being Joe Chamberlain, Jasper Crockett and Will Kruger. It is reported that Mr. Chamberlain prepared the chowder which was pronounced to be first class in every respect.

John Kissinger Married.

John Kissinger, who formerly worked in this city, but is now employed by the Connor Company at Stratford as bookkeeper, was recently married at that place to Miss Anna Laessle, a teacher of that place. John's many friends in this city and vicinity will extend to him the heartiest of congratulations.

A Touch of Winter.

The fall weather that has prevailed in this section for some time past, gave way to a cold wave on Monday evening and since then we have had a touch of winter. Snow fell about noon today, also not in sufficient quantities to amount to anything, and the thermometer has been hovering about the 40 mark, making it and overcasts very comfortable.

Boy Killed at Marshfield.

A Judicious Inquiry.

A well known traveling man who visits the drug trade here, has of late made judicious inquiry of customers who asked for a cough medicine, whether it was wanted for a child or for an adult, and if for a child they almost invariably recommended Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. The reason for this is that they know there is no danger from it and that it always cures it, and for coughs, colds and croup it is unsurpassed. For sale by John B. Daly Drugist.

AMONG CRANBERRY MEN.

EDITED BY W. H. FITCH.

Weather Bureau Service Assured.

Last week we spoke editorially of the advantages that would be derived from a system of service supplied by the Weather Bureau of the United States, to the cranberry growers of Cape Cod. While we knew that such a service was a possibility, we were not aware that all the details in connection with the matter had been definitely arranged, until on Thursday we found the system was in full operation.

On Thursday morning, the indications pointed to a frost for Thursday night, and accordingly a dispatch to that effect was sent to the office of the Weather Bureau, which is to be the headquarters for such dispatches.

The next step was to get this message before as many cranberry growers as possible and through the courtesy of the Southern Massachusetts Telephone Co., messages were sent to the central offices at Wareham, Brockton, Middleboro, Plymouth and Hyannis without charge. These central offices then notified all of their subscribers who have cranberry bogs and in this way the word is quite generally passed around through the cranberry section.

Those bog owners who are in a position to flood their bogs or take other precautions against possible damage by frost are given ample time to do so, and as the value of a crop is so great, it is probable that the telephone company will benefit to the extent that a good many more cranberry growers will wish to have telephone put into their homes or on their bogs where they may receive the benefit of this service as promptly as the benefit of this service.

This is but one step toward the more successful raising and harvesting of cranberries on the Cape and every forward step may mean many dollars in the pockets of the growers and incidentally a gain to the merchants and other business men of the section as well.—Wareham, (Mass.) Courier.

Cranberries Active

Fruit Trade Journal.—The cranberry situation remains substantially as last week. Receipts are much less than this time a year ago, and prices continue firm under a very active demand. There has been a gradual increase, of course, but not enough to make the stock in liberal supply. Prices, which are ruling at $6.50 to $6.75 per barrel, are considerably higher than the trade was used to paying at this time last year, with the result that the local demand is not very active. Very favorable weather also has had something to do with this. News from Cape Cod, however, is that they cannot fill the orders there, and prices on the Cape are quoted at $6.00 to $6.25 per barrel, with a demand from all sections, especially from the West, which is taking all the berries it can get. While prices for barreled stock are as given above, it is said that a few extra fine Early Blacks have been sold at $7.00 to $7.25 per barrel, and a very limited amount of fancy Centennials have been sold at $7.50 to $8.00, but these have been in such small supply that quotations are hardly worth while.

Change of Base.

A climax appears to have been reached in the Cape Cod cranberry situation by the announcement today that Coble & Company or the American Cranberry company, which Coble & Company represent, the largest buyers that come into the belt, have decided to pull up stakes and turn to other berry fields.

Coble & Company buy Cape Cod berries by the tons of thousands of barrels. The reason given for the firm's action is the unsatisfactory condition of the local market. Prices for the Cape Cod fruit have been pushed up so rapidly recently that buyers say it is practically useless to attempt to do business. Prices have advanced to $10 per barrel, and still higher prices are being demanded, and the big buyers think they can do much better to abandon the Cape Cod belt and turn their attention to other points. The early fruit has fallen short considerably, but the late fruit begins to come in in fair proportions, and there will be heavy shipments the coming week, in excess in those of the corresponding time last year.—Wareham (Mass.) Courier Sept. 20.

Singular Situation.

New York, Sept. 20.—The heaviest receipts of cranberries in a single day the past week at Cape Cod is as high as wholesale prices in New York. Cape Cod berries are now worth from $5 to $6.50 wholesale. The most noticeable defect now is that a great many of the berries contain a worm. This shows up mostly after the berries have been packed as they decay very rapidly and even the package was well filled when it left the field, by the time it reached the retailer the measure would be shrunk considerably on account of this decay. The cold winter killed a great many of the vines and then about June 1 just as the berries were beginning to blossom a heavy frost did considerable damage. These and other unfavorable conditions make the crop a very small one.—Chicago Packer.

New Firm.

A new Massachusetts corporation has been formed under the name of the New Bedford Cranberry company, with the following board of directors: Pres., Edward P. Washburn of Marion; vice president, Joseph C. Patande of New Bedford; treasurer, Asa Anger of New Bedford; Henry C. Hopkins of Marion, and Jean B. Jean of New Bedford. The capital stock is $10,000, divided equally into preferred and common stock.

The property of the company, which is located in Eight Middleboro, comprises 30 acres of land, of which four acres of land are producing cranberries, eight are nearly ready for a light coat of sand and planting, twelve are of rough swamp to be bluffed at once and six are of upland for screen house and sand purposes. A large force of men is now at work developing the uncultivated land and it is expected that by the first of next July the company will own 34 acres of cranberry bog.

Mr. Peysche on Situation.

The three Western firms represented in the producing districts with buyers are the Peysche Bros. Commission Co., of Des Moines, and N. A. Coble & Co., of Chicago. Ernest Peysche, of the Kansas City firm, is a recognized authority on the cranberry market and his statement of conditions is of interest to the trade. "The cranberry business is in rather a peculiar condition now," said Mr. Peysche to The Packer man. "The crop of Cape Cod Early Blacks, on account of worms and hailstorms, has been reduced to about 50 per cent of last year's yield. Buyers who contracted extensively at $5 per barrel early in the season were in some cases able to secure only from 40 to 60 per cent of the amounts specified, and had to re-buy at from $5.50 to $6.25 to cover orders taken. "By this time the bulk of the Early Black crop has passed into the hands of dealers and some of the leading cranberry buyers in the country have withdrawn their representatives, as the quantity available is not large enough to justify their remaining and prices have been put up to figures that leave insufficient margins to make deals profitable.

Late Varieties and Prices. "From advice the crop of late varieties of Cape Cod cranberries will be about 30 per cent of last year. New Jersey probably will not produce more than 50 to 60 per cent of the previous year's yield, and Wisconsin growers have discovered that they are grossly overestimated the crop. At a meeting at Cranmore, Wis., in the early part of the season, it was estimated that Wisconsin would produce about 35,000 barrels this year, whereas last year figures based on accurate and definite information place the amount at 21,000 barrels.

"The conditions prevailing have already resulted in advance in prices over last year. The jobbing quotation now is $7.50 a barrel, f. o. b. Missouri river points, as against $6.50 and $6.75 in 1904, and it is quite probable that the end is not yet. However, the top prices will hardly exceed $8 to $8.50 for beyond that the berries would only be possible to people of more than moderate means, and would have to be handled in small quantities. The height of the demand comes in the latter part of October and the early days of November when dealers are ordering for Thanksgiving trade.

On Tuesday morning a disturbance was caused on the cranberry bog at Sparrows Mill by the determination of men from New Bedford to prevent work unless the price was advanced from $6 to 10 cents measure, and every possible means except force to carry out their plan. Mr. Sparrow was called and promised those willing to work that any person undertaking should be prosecuted to the full extent of the law. As the pickets, except the flagmen led by Baker, were well satisfied with the price, work was resumed. The pickets remained on the bog jeering at the pickers and it seemed wise to summon Constable Blacksmith of Marion, who promptly escorted them from the bog and later saw them safely on the electric car to New Bedford. Although there has been said against the foreign element on the various bogs the disturbance here was entirely caused by American born citizens.—Wareham (Mass.) Courier Sept. 20.

Washington Market. According to the Seattle Trade Register of Sept. 20, Cape Cod Cranberries are in supply sufficient for all demand and selling at $9.75 per bbl. or $8.25 per box of 30 lbs. The quality is reported good.

CRANBERRY PUFFS.—Sift 2 teaspoons baking powder into 2 cups flour, add 1/2 teaspoon salt to 2 eggs and beat to a thick cream. Add 1 pint cranberries to the flour, then eggs and 1 cup sweet milk. Fill buttered cups and steam closely covered, 1 hour. They should come out perfect puff balls and will absorb much sauce. Make the latter as follows: One egg, 1/2 cup sugar, 1/2 cup butter, 1 heaping dessertspoon flour, boiling water as usual for sauce. Pour on the well beaten egg, stirring continually, till well thickened.—(Mrs. Josephine) Huddins in Orange Judd Farmer.

CRANBERRY AND BUTTERNUT FILLING.—For a ten-pound turkey use two quarts of soft bread crumbs. Moisture with a teaspoonful of melted butter and season with a teaspoonful of paprika, tablespoonful of poultry seasoning, and a tiny pinch of grated nutmeg. Add a pint of raw cranberries and one cupful of butternut meats broken into coarse bits. Frances E. Peck, No. 548 East Fourteenth street, Davenport, Iowa.

—In Chicago Record Herald.

BENNETT'S SAUCE FOR POULTRY.—Wash a quart of cranberries, put them in a stewing pan with one pound of lard slices, coriander, not pared, and cut in thin slices; add a pint of water, cover the saucepan, boil rapidly for ten minutes; press thru a colander; add one pound of sugar; stir until the sugar is dissolved and boil for five minutes.

CRANBERRY JELLY.—Boil a quart of cranberries with just enough water to keep them from burning. Strain, add sugar to taste, and again boil till thick, when it can be poured into a mold and set aside. If it will not enough to turn out. If it will not, a quarter teaspoonful of gelatin soaked soft in cold water will set it.—Wis. Agriculturist.

The facts are simply these: It is being demonstrated every day in all parts of the country that those who have received special instruction along the line of the work in which they are engaged are succeeding very much better than those who have not received such instruction, and hence very many who are ambitious, and every body should be, are losing no time in arranging to receive instruction. for Appleton and Oshkosh Monday,
and from there she will go to Chicago. Many of her friends will be very lonesome without her.

Charles Daly has sold his horses to the Nash Lumber company at Shuangolden. There were seventeen in the lot, and the deal involved the exchange of something over $3,000.

—Virginia—A story of the South.
Monday evening. Prices 10, 20, and 30 cents.

George Halvorsen, who has been working on the cranberry marsh, for several weeks past, was in the city on Friday, being on his way home to Aitford, having finished his work on the marsh.

P. S. Gill the painter has rented the Kromer building on First street and will remove his paint and wall paper store there in the near future.
Lack of space in his old location compelled the change.

The Agricultural Experiment station has just issued Bulletin No. 127, on "the principles and practice of horse-breeding." The bulletin will prove valuable to horse owners and may be had free for the asking.

Wood Co. Times—J. D. Potter of Pittsville, harvested an unusually good crop of cranberries this year, amounting to 400 barrels. He has sold the berries and will begin shipping them as soon as the barrels arrive.

The Elks held their first meeting
in their new hall on Tuesday evening, and altho the place is not entirely fitted as they intend to have it, they are greatly pleased with their location. They will hold a social dance at their hall Friday evening.

W. H. Fitch of Cranmore was in the city on Saturday, having come up to attend to some business matters.
Mr. Fitch reports that he got a very good yield of cranberries off from his sawage, not having met with the setbacks that some of the others did.

The moving picture entertainment given under the auspices of the Mystic Workers at the Forester hall on Saturday evening was not very largely attended. Several of the moving pictures were quite interesting, and were enjoyed by the audience.

Louis Lebreche was in the city on Thursday. He stated that he and Glove Akoy had opened a music store at Bruce, where they would handle
all sorts of musical merchandise.
Their many friends here will wish them success in their new location.

The supreme court has decided that the statute of limitations does not apply to money deposited in a bank the same as to other bank accounts. A case of this kind came up at Whitewater, where a sum of money was left deposited in a bank for a long time, and when the money was wanted the banker claimed that it was his.

The Troubadours will appear at the Beaver hall in the Wood Co. bank building on Tuesday evening, Oct. 17,
under the auspices of the Beavers.
This is a first class company composed of five talented people, four musicians and a reader, and is said to be one of the best that is on the road today.
Do not miss the date: Tuesday, Oct.
17th.

The state civil service commission has completed plans for holding competitive examinations in every assembly district for positions in the state service. Commissioners Cunningham and Gaffron will visit the state institutions to acquaint themselves with the requirements of the various kinds of services. Examinations come in December.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Whittlesey of Fargo, S. D. arrived in the city Tuesday morning. Mr. Whittlesey left the same evening for Chicago on business, but Mrs. Whittlesey will remain here a time visiting with friends and relatives. Mr. Whittlesey reports that he is getting along nicely
in his new location and that he likes his situation very well.

George Taylor of Mateos, Wyoming, was in the city on Monday for a few hours. He came in the morning and went down to visit his property in Adams county, and visiting a few of his friends about the city, left the same evening for the west. Mr.
Taylor states that he will probably be here with a herd of sheep next spring. He states that he would have been here this year, but his herd of 6000 sheep was placed in quarantine and when they were released it was too late in the season for him to come.

best supply in the city at Krieger's.

A new $20 gold certificate has been issued and it is said by bankers and others who have seen it to be of handsome design. They also say that the old one was only a patchwork affair and never possessed any merit. We always knew there was something the matter with it, altho we could never say just what it was, but it seems that it was the lack of artistic merit that was the trouble. Another trouble with the old one was its shyness about showing up when it was most needed.
We hope the new kind will not be afflicted this way.

Farmers in this section report that they have secured a fairly good crop of corn this year, in spite of the rainy weather that prevailed early in the season. The good weather that has prevailed this fall and the absence of frost until so late a time has enabled the corn to ripen and produce a crop in places where, if frost had come as early as usual, there would have been no crop at all. If the farmers in this locality could bank on the kind of weather every fall that has existed this year, this would become one of the great corn producing sections of the country.

New Colors for bank bills, a different color for the several denominations will be favored by the Wisconsin State Bankers' Association. A draft resolution has been forwarded to the national convention at Washington, D. C., suggesting that the ground work of all $1 bills be dark drab; that $2 bill be tinted in brown;
that $5 bills be tinted in green; that $10 bills be tinted in blue; that $20 bills be tinted in yellow; that $50 bills be tinted pink; and that $100
bills and those of larger denomination be tinted in white, or in such colors
as may be deemed most easily distinguishable.

Marshfield News—W. H. Carey of Grand Rapids, who for several years has been a successful insurance agent for different eastern companies, the last being the Prudential, has given up the field and is now representing a Cincinnati gas plant, establishing individual systems. He was here to place one in the Marshfield high school library. The pickle factory shipped the first car of manufactured stock on Tuesday, consigned to an eastern firm. Twenty operators are now employed at the factory, peeling and sorting. Dr. H. A. Lathrop shipped his first car of sugar beets Saturday. They are the finest ever grown in this section and yield 30 tons to the acre.

THERE IS A DOLLAR

At each end of a thousand and the FIRST is the largest.
The easiest and the best way to fill in the gap between the first and last dollar of a thousand is to deposit the first one in the Savings Bank and then add to it in small amounts as frequently as possible. The compound interest paid on savings deposits will help out wonderfully.
